LATEST FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

[illegible]

The democrats are attempting to lure the colored people from Indiana [illegible] by getting up 25-cent excursions to Louisville, hoping to start the excursionists so that they will not get back by Tuesday. The negroes see the point, however, and the excursions are a failure. Senator Conkling has been speaking to tremendous audiences in Indiana, and doing as hard work for the republican party as any of its leaders. His speeches all now are very attractive and powerful, as they usually strike the key note of local pride and prejudice. His last effort was last night at Lafayette.

The Times says: Indiana republicans appear much more confident than a few days ago, and claim that they have the names of 7000 democrats who will vote the republican ticket. The imported roughs on both sides are known, and will not be allowed to get in their work. Mr. Landers told Judge Trumbull at Plymouth, Indiana yesterday in private that he was confident of election. In Ohio affairs are getting very exciting, and both sides are spending money freely. Both parties will try to poll every district as late as to-morrow night with a view to putting a check on the selling out process. In Columbus each party appears to have gained about as much as it has lost. The poll of the state, already made by republicans, gives them a majority of 25,000, and it is said that democrats generally concede 20 per cent of that. A close fight is being made in several congressional districts. There was a very successful democratic demonstration in Columbus last night with a procession and two mass meetings.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Chicago, Oct. 11.—The Times' Indianapolis special gives an account of a riot at Shelbyville, Indiana, resulting from an attempt by democratic hoodlums to break up a meeting which was addressed by Gen. Harrison. At an early hour the people began to gather in the city in large crowds. A large number of democrats were on hand and began to parade the streets, yelling "Hurrah for Hancock, English," and other similar expressions. They tried in every manner to insult republicans and excite a fight. By noon they became boisterous, after having indulged in a liberal amount of bad whisky, and began to thirst for blood.

Hon. Gilbert De La Matyr spoke to a fair sized crowd of greenbackers at 1 o'clock, but a mob of drunken democrats disturbed the meeting to such an extent that the speaker was compelled to stop. This was on the public square. Soon after a fight took place on Broadway between a party of republicans and democrats. The democrats had been hurling epithets at republicans, and chanced to strike the wrong party of men. A general fight ensued and the republicans came out first best.

It would be impossible to give a description of the rows that took place during the afternoon, as they followed each other in rapid succession. Democrats also fought among themselves. During the afternoon a party of democratic ruffians paraded the streets swearing that no republican should holler for Garfield. The [illegible] were cracked in their throats, however, and soon stopped. It seemed as if the republicans had concluded not to be bulldozed any longer, and insults were met by one resented. About 4 o'clock a row took place in Hardback's saloon between a party of young republicans and democrats. A posse, headed by Sheriff Albert McCorkle, rushed into the saloon, and after a few knockdowns the fight was stopped without any material damage. McCorkle then, it is said, took Gib. Kennedy, a young republican who was in the fracas, and walked down the street. At this time a crowd rushed up and another general fight took place, during which two shots were fired. One struck Sheriff McCorkle in the breast, the ball passing through the upper part of his lung, glancing into the shoulder, and, it is claimed, was fired by young Kennedy. Stories are of such a contradictory nature that it is difficult to get at the truth of the matter. A man who was an eye witness to the occurrence said in the presence of the Indianapolis Journal's reporter that he saw McCorkle fire the first shot. After he was shot he was carried to the residence of R. D. Flattz where he now lies in a dangerous condition. The wound is regarded as fatal.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., Oct. 11.—McCorkle died at 9 o'clock this morning.

BESET BY INTERVIEWERS.

Hancock Won't be Interviewed, but Notwithstanding Tells a Thing or Two.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

New York, Oct. 9.—The Evening Express, democratic, prints the subjoined interview with Hancock to-day:

Reporter—General, will you make a formal reply to the statements concerning yourself, made recently by Grant?

Gen. Hancock—It is yet too early to answer that. There is a good deal to be read and clearly understood before a determination can be arrived at. I am unwilling to be interviewed.

General, said the reporter, I am directed to ask you if President Lincoln offered to you the command of the army of the Potomac before Grant was called to its command?

Hancock—There is a history, but I don't want to be interviewed. I can't be interviewed every day. I was sent to Washington. I was detained there a month. I don't say by whom. Lincoln was president. It was before Grant was called to the command. There had been a disaster—the battle of [illegible] Run, I think, but ask army officers who know about the matter. There are men who know the facts. I WILL NOT BE INTERVIEWED!

From other sources than Hancock the Evening Express has information which it has good reason to regard as truthful that Lincoln did tender the command of the army of the Potomac to Hancock before Grant became its commander and that written evidence of the truth of this important fact is in evidence.

A reporter called on General Hancock to-day in regard to the recently published interviews with General Grant. General Hancock said: "I have not replied, nor have I prepared a reply. In fact, have not yet carefully read what General Grant has said about me and which has been given to the public through the medium of the press." Of the assertion that when the army of the Potomac was looking for a commander Hancock's name was not even suggested for the place, General Hancock says: "After the failure of the campaign I was detained in Washington one month by secretary Stanton, with a view of placing me in command of the army of the Potomac, but I did not want it and would not accept it." Gen. Hancock's aids are Captain Wharton, Captain Ward and General Mitchell, who were with Hancock at the battle of Gettysburg. These are regarded as "the military family" of General Hancock one member of which family is understood to be the person who wrote the letter which appeared in the Chicago Tribune. General Mitchell was not at headquarters when the reporter called, but Captain Wharton and Captain Ward expressed much indignation and said they did not believe any such letter had ever been written.

He Expresses an Opinion on the Tariff Question.

New York, Oct. 10.—The Paterson (N. J.) [illegible], democratic, last evening, reported as having interviewed Hancock on the tariff question. Hancock said that the question cannot affect the manufacturing interests of the country in the least. My election would make no difference one way or another. There has to be a certain amount of the millions of dollars raised by tariff that can be got in no other way and that must incidentally give protection to the manufacturing interests of the country. Barnum Off for Indiana.

St. Louis, Oct. 9.—Chairman Barnum was here to-day consulting with democratic politicians and left for Indiana to-night.

The Weakest Democratic Document ever Issued.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—It has remained for Chicago democrats to put forth the weakest campaign document ever yet issued. It came out to-night and was devoted to showing as Senator Conkling said of Phillips's speech, that prosperity is a curse. The document was vigorously circulated for three days and now fully completed contains exactly twenty-five names and these names by no means creditable as a whole to the party they represent. The document sets forth that although republicans are improving their party that a change requires necessary after 20 years, that it is an insult to the people to declare that there is danger in a change and that good crops, good self rule in the south and economy in private life have caused the good times, not the policy and conduct of the republican party. The republicans had in contemplation a movement to properly express the business sense of the community on the political questions of the day and now it is determined to have a grand meeting which will comprise all the best business men in the city who will adopt a platform urging the support of the republican nominees. The unanimity among business men on the question is astonishing.

Congressional Nominations.

New York, Oct. 9.—Republican congressional nominations to-night: Eighth district Anson G. McCook; ninth district L. N. Hunt; eleventh Levi P. Morton.

Boston, Oct. 9.—Ex-Gov. Gaston declines the democratic nomination for congress in the fourth district. Sitting member Moore is now the only democratic candidate.

COLLISION ON THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 9.—A terrible accident occurred here to-night on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The Walls accommodation which left here at 11:00 collided with a special train from Granburg at Twentieth street where the riots occurred a few years ago. Both trains were filled with passengers, especially the Walls train which contained several marching clubs which participated in the democratic demonstration here to-night.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 10.—At 2 A. M. reliable news places twelve as the number killed and between 30 and 40 wounded most of whom were terribly scalded [illegible]. Dead bodies are moved in every direction, and it is impossible to learn how many are killed. Among the killed are Dr. Elliott of Boston, Pa., E. D. Butler and sister, James Bard, Lizzie Bard, Jones Lawrence, Mrs. Boyd, Mattie Taylor of Edgewood, Miss Mary Dawson of East End, Mrs. J. P. Richmond of Edgewood, Miss Rose McCabe of East End, Miss Kate Leslie of East End. Those injured painfully, but not seriously, are Nancy Manly (colored) Catherine Manly and Wilkinson Manly, all of Waynesburg, Pa., Miss Bessie Riemond of Pittsburg.

Robert Pitcairn, superintendent of the road, which is one of the best in the country, said if the rules had not been disobeyed the accident would not have occurred. The train had not yet gone into the block operated by the signal system and the flagman was under imperative orders to go back half a mile to flag the following train, that he must not wait to be ordered back by the conductor, but to go on his own account. This applies whether the train is in the block or still in the yard limits. As in this case the flag man and all employes of the trains are old and experienced men, the officials cannot condemn them until an investigation is had; but this matter will be sifted, and the responsibility placed where it belongs. Passengers state that the flagman, whose name is Penrod, did not go back. He will be examined to-morrow. Orders for the movement of trains are the same as have been in vogue for thirty years, and officials insist that the train men and not the superior officers violated the rule. Public opinion seems to place the responsibility on the flagman Penrod, of the first section. Mr. Pitcairn says the loss by the wreck will be one thousand dollars, that the run in was no extraordinary accident, that escaping steam was the cause of fatality and the run might occur again without the loss of a single life.

LATER.—A lady whose name is unknown died from internal injuries and exhaustion; Miss Emma Winnberg, aged 17, of Pittsburg was scalded. Those dangerously injured now in the West Pennsylvania hospital whom the physicians say but few will recover are: George Young, East End; Frank Klingser, Esq., East End; Jell P. Myers, Frewsberg, Chatauqua Co., N. Y.; Frank DeLavine, East End; James M. Retzel, Edgewood; H. W. Black, Swissvale; Robt. Dickson, Swissvale; David Aiken, Cherry Camp, W. Va.; Geo. Cummins, East End; James Lawrence, East End; Hugh Malloron, Spring Hill, Pa.; James Dempty, Spring Hill, Pa.; Wm. J. Smith, Spring Hill, Pa.; Annie Quinn, Shadyside, and Miss Molly Stitzebaugh, East End.

9 P. M.—The number of deaths by the accident is twenty-one.

THE RACE COURSE.

Alleantara	1	3	5	4	1	0
Fort B y	5	4	1	2	3	0

Bo So	4	3	4	1	4	0

Time 2:23, 2:23¾, 2:23½, 2:24½, 2:24¾, 2:26¼.

Second race free for all, pacing, Sorrel Dan, Mattie Hunter, Rowdy Boy and Lily each won a heat, and Sorrel Dan and Rowdy Boy ran a dead heat for first and fourth heats. Race postponed.

San Jose, Oct. 9.—There was a larger attendance at the track to day than at any other time this week. The first race was for a purse of $700 for the 2:26 class. Four started—Crown Point, Pinol Patchen, Cassie Mack and Major. Owing to the acknowledged superiority of Crown Point, there was little interest taken, and less betting on the result. Pools sold $20 on the favorite to $5 on the field. The placing and the time was as follows:

Cassie Mack	2	3	3
Major	3	2	4
Pinol Patchen	2	4	4

Time 2:37, 2:36, 2:29¾.

The second race excited a great deal of interest. It was for a purse of $300 for three-year-olds. The starters were Alex Button, Belle Echo and Len Rose. The training of these colts at Oakland and Sacramento demonstrated that these three and Annie Laurie were the best of that age that had ever appeared on the California track. In this race Alex Button made the fastest time—2:29—to the credit of California bred three-year-olds. Before the start Button was a favorite at $40 to $25 on the others. It was the best race ever trotted on the Pacific coast, and will compare favorably with any. Following is the time and placing in each heat:

Alex Button	2	1	1	1
Belle Echo	1	2	2	3
Len Rose	3	3	5	2

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Census of South Carolina Declared Honest.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Secretary Schurz this afternoon made public the report of Superintendent Walker of the census bureau, on the alleged census frauds in South Carolina. The general gives his reasons for believing the census of 1870 to have been very defective, attributing it mainly to defects of the law under which it was taken, that of 1870, and adds that the investigation instituted places it beyond doubt: First that the census of 1870 was grossly defective, and secondly, that the census of 1880 was substantially well taken. In no instance did anything appear which looked to any evidence of fraud in the returns made to the office by the enumerators of 1880. In some districts nearly every family was identified as residents in the township.

THE OUTRAGE AT CLINE'S RANCH.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

[illegible], Oct. 9.—The outrage at Cline's ranch on the Cimmaron is showing a purpose to fall into the hands of the Indians to be turned over when the [illegible] towns along the borders of the reservation. Indignation meetings are being held not only in towns but also in every mining camp, and the feeling upon the subject is becoming so intense that it is liable to break forth in some disastrous strokes that will envelope the whole Ute nation. The conduct of the Indian agent at Los Pinos agency, W. H. Berry, in allowing such outrages to be committed, when he had a force of over 1000 troops at his command, has created a painful sentiment that is liable to come [illegible] to call on the military for protection.

Desperate Resolution.

Denver, Oct. 9.—The Tribune's Lake City special says the citizens of Ouray held a meeting to-day and resolved if the government did not take steps to get rid of the Utes they would take matters in their own hands.

Opinions at the Department.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The officials at the department of the interior say regarding the recent killing of a son of Chief Chavanaux, and the subsequent capture and death of his alleged murderer Jackson, at the hands of members of the Ute tribe that unless the feelings of the Utes are worked upon by unprincipled white men who are disposed to throw every possible obstacle in the way of the complete success of the treaty recently ratified, the affair will undoubtedly be settled without any rupture of existing relations between the Utes and the United States.

The Ute Funds.

In making final arrangements with the treasury department for the transfer of [illegible] due the Ute Indians to Mr. French, it was ascertained that an excess of bonds over the public funds in the depository bank at Denver, Colorado would not permit placing $75,000 to the credit of French. To expedite matters, French has been called to Washington. He is expected to arrive here in a day or two, when arrangements will be perfected to insure the prompt transfer of the funds to such a point in Colorado as the commission may wish.

Germany's Attitude.

Berlin, Oct. 9.—Germany will refuse to give any assistance to coercive measures against Turkey unless all the powers participate in them.

Latest Aspect.

[illegible]

London, Oct. 9.—A Cittinje dispatch says that on Tuesday night an accidental fire broke out at Scampi. The Albanian Mountaineers opened a fusillade from one end of their position to the other, doubtless taking the flames for a Montenegrin signal of attack, and kept up a heavy fire until dawn.

The Powers Consent.

Constantinople, Oct. 9.—A conference of ambassadors strongly disapprove the porte's attitude. Austrian and German representatives are, nevertheless, trying to induce other ambassadors to avoid hasty action.

Will Abdicate rather than Yield.

Constantinople, Oct. 9.—The sultan has declared that he would rather abdicate than yield to the wishes of the powers. He has had a protracted interview with Hobart Pasha.

For the Mediterranean.

Portsmouth, Oct. 10.—Her majesty's troop ship Assistance which sails to-day, takes fifty tons of ammunition and fifty-four Nordenfeldt gatling guns for the Mediterranean. It is rumored that the admiralty may possibly send a detached squadron, now fitting out, to the Mediterranean instead of sending it on a general cruise as proposed.

Admirals Instructed.

Paris, Oct. 9.—Admiral Seymour summoned all the admirals to-day and interviewed them separately, and it is believed gave them instructions.

Report Contradicted.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 9.—A dispatch says that the report that the English cabinet requested Prince Labanoff, Russian ambassador at London, to communicate direct with Livadia to ask his government what it intended to do with regard to Montenegro, Greece and Armenia, is untrue. The English cabinet has made no more special representation in Russia than to other powers.

Montenegrins Require Pecuniary Aid.

No Cause for Anxiety.

Paris, Oct. 9.—It is expected that the new proposals of England regarding the course to be adopted by the powers in the settlement of the eastern question will not be considered by the French cabinet until the return of President Grevy next week. The London Times in an editorial says, as long as European concert lasts we may feel comparatively free from anxiety, and for the present there are no signs of its giving way.

Warlike Bustle.

Athens, Oct. 9.—The city is full of warlike bustle. The army daily gains in steadiness, and bids fair to be a very effective force.

SOUTH AMERICA.

Two Defenceless Towns Bombarded by Chileans.

New York, Oct. 9.—The Peruvian consul in this city furnishes the following: The consul general of Peru in Panama, telegraphs that the Chileans have bombarded Cherillos and Ancon, and destroyed many valuable sugar plantations in the north. Both the above named places were perfectly defenceless. Cherillos is a fashionable watering place near Lima, where many foreign and native families had sought refuge from the threatened attack on Lima. The society of the Red Cross had also established a large hospital for sick and wounded. The Chileans have no doubt bombarded these places to avenge the blowing up of the Loa by Peruvians.

CRIMES.

Double Murder and Suicide.

Quincy, Ill., Oct. 9.—A fearful tragedy is reported from New Canton, Pike county, caused by love, resulting in double murder and suicide. Six miles from New Canton lived a family named Baker, consisting of father, mother and daughters, the elder 15 years old. A young man named Sellers had been working with the family and about 9 o'clock last evening while Mr. Baker was absent insisted that the daughter should promise to marry him. She refused, when young Sellers drew a revolver, shot the mother, then the girl. He finally put the muzzle to his own temple and fired. Each of the three shots was instantly fatal. Another daughter witnessed the whole tragedy and gave the above facts to the coroner's jury this morning.

Among business men this question is astonishing.

LINN COUNTY FAIR.

FAIR GROUNDS, Oct. 8, 1880.

The third day of the Linn county fair opened clear and pleasant. Hacks, buggies and wagons are coming from every direction, and the attendance is quite large. The gate money for the past three days amounts to $1800.

RACES.

Running race at 1 P. M. for two year olds, single dash of a mile for a purse of $100. The following horses entered: J. G. Basket entered Alice McKee; J. F. Miller entered Russell Coleman; J. F. Miller entered Cadette. Alice McKee won race and first money, Russel Coleman second money.

At the running race free for all the following horses entered: J. G. Basket entered Disciples; Joseph Taylor entered Hastings, Joseph Jay entered Ole. Race and first money won by Disciples, second by Hastings.

At 2:30 P. M. the trotting race came off, one mile heat for a purse of $75. The following horses entered: J. Misner entered Rob Roy; H. Stanley entered Katy Lila; A. J. Fairbanks entered Bill Reed. Race and money won by Rob Roy.

GENERAL DISPLAY.

There is a fair showing of entries at the pavilion. There are some very fine samples of grain, vegetables and fruit. The display of fancy work is good and exhibitors are showing good taste and skill. There are some very fine oil paintings and pencil sketches. The floral exhibit is not large but there is a good display of fruit in jars, and preserved cakes, bread &c, and a fair showing of agricultural implements, carriages and wagons. A Plummer fruit dryer on the grounds under charge of Mr. Geo. Sills is doing some good work drying fruit.

There are a number of fine horses on exhibition, Mr. J. R. Sawyer of Independence, Polk Co., has a span of match stallions, three years old, that attract much attention. They are a light chestnut in color, light manes and tails, fine high headed fellows, well broke to drive single or double and give promise of making fast trotters. Mr. Sawyer has also on exhibition a fine looking bay Clydesdale stallion, eight years old.

GLASS BALL SHOOTING.

The glass ball shooting yesterday was very good considering the wind and rain. Two teams of four entered for the purse of $75. Corvallis team, Capt. T. J. Buford; Albany team, Capt. L. E. Monteith each man to shoot at twenty balls.

The following is the score:

Corvallis team—T. J. Buford broke [illegible] out of 20; R. F. Riger, 13 out of 20; R. F. Baker [illegible] out of 20; Wm. Albrecht, 5 out of 20; total number broken, 43; total number possible, 80.

Albany team—D. B. Monteith broke 17 out of 20; W. W. Baltimore 16 out of 20; D. Hackleman, 16 out of 20; W. Monteith, 16 out of 20; total number broken, 65; total number possible, 80.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The usual number of catchpennies, venders of medicines, trinkets, etc., that usually attend fairs are here, and all seem to be having a good time.

To-morrow, Saturday, will be the best day of the fair. There will be some good racing and parade of stock.

Quite a crowd of gamblers and pickpockets are in attendance, but the police force, under the efficient charge of Marshall Hunt, keeps them quiet and only a few cases of petty thievery has occurred.

TWO INDIANS KILLED.

An Affray on the Upper Skagit Between a White Man and Two Indians—Both the Latter Killed—Indians Enraged and Settlers Alarmed.

Seattle, Oct. 9.—Particulars of a terrible shooting affair which occurred at Skagit river on Tuesday last, have just reached here. It seems that between a ranchman named Anderson Evarts living at the mouth of Baker river, and two Indians named respectively Bill and Tom, residing in the same vicinity, a feud has for some time existed, as Evarts claims, on account of various petty larcenies committed by the Indians. On Tuesday morning Evarts went into the woods for timber, taking along an axe and rope, returning to dinner he left his implements behind, and going back soon after found they were missing. He immediately suspected the Indians in question and going to their cabin instituted search for the articles in their absence. The Indians returning afterwards were informed by the squaws of what had taken place, and that Evarts accused them of stealing the articles. The Indians at once proceeded to Evarts' house armed with dirk knives, when Evarts again accused them of theft whereupon they advanced upon him threatening his life, when Evarts seized a revolver from a shelf and ordering a friend named Cobb, present at the time, to stand back, covered the foremost Indian with his weapon warning him not to advance further. The Indian paying no attention to this admonition Evarts fired, the ball taking effect in his breast. This brought him to a halt for a moment, but recovering from the shock he made another lunge at Evarts. Evarts dodged him and fired a second shot. This time the ball penetrated the region of the heart, causing him to stagger and fall; whereupon Tom came to the front and made a desperate thrust at Evarts with his knife, Evarts firing on him at the same time, the ball entering his mouth, passing through his neck severing an artery. Bill had in the meantime regained his feet, when the two Indians again made for Evarts, who having discharged the last shot in his revolver, confronted them with a club of wood. The struggle continued but a few moments when the Indians ran away. After proceeding about two hundred yards Bill fell to the ground dead and Tom went out a few steps further and fell weakened from great loss of blood. Evarts and Cobb immediately abandoned the ranch containing a large amount of stock and valuable buildings, fearing immediate attack from Indians, and started off down the river. They have since arrived at Mount Vernon where Evarts gave himself up to the authorities. Settlers in the vicinity are all greatly alarmed and at last accounts all were collected at Chris. Pessenton's ranch waiting developments. The Indians have sent out runners to inform all Indians up and down the river, and summon them to grand council to be held to-day. These Indians are of mixed races, largely composed of Chelan Indians, and are subjects of Moses, the celebrated Yakima chief. Their sub-chief's name is Jonny Campbell, and should his counsels prevail a general Indian outbreak is feared. Should they be disposed they can give infinite trouble to settlers of Upper Skagit and to miners. Some of them living east of Chelan lake have never seen a white man and may be called thoroughly savage. They are not friendly to the whites, as but a few days ago they ordered a United States surveying party at work on the Upper Skagit to leave. The party have already left in prompt obedience to the demand of Indians, having arrived at Mount Vernon Wednesday, and will telegraph to Washington for instructions.

REPORTED INDIAN OUTBREAK.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Olympia, Oct. 9.—The following telegram has been received at the surveyor general's office from Dudley Henry, deputy United States surveyor: "The Indians have stopped the survey on the Skagit river. They threaten to kill the whole party. Everett and Baker were attacked yesterday and in self defense shot two Indians. The upper settlements are in danger. We cannot work unless protected by the government." General McMicken is now at Salt Lake City attending the council of surveyors general. A. B. Cowles, chief clerk, telegraphed to Vancouver to Gen. Howard, and received a reply saying the surveyors should be protected, but that the killing of the Indians would make it more difficult. Mr. Henry was engaged in a survey in the same locality last year, and the Indians threatened then to kill him if he did not stop work, but he conciliated them by making presents of provisions, etc.

Olympia, Oct. 10.—Gen. Howard, who accompanies the presidential party, last night telegraphed to Vancouver to Lieut. Symons to proceed to Olympia, take the steamer Daisy, which has been chartered for the purpose, thence proceed to Port Townsend, take sixty men from the garrison, and go to the aid of Surveyor Henry, on the Skagit, to quell the Indian outbreak there.

MONDAY MORNING, OCT. 11, 1880.

A MATTER OF "CONSISTENCY."

Before Portland or the Willamette valley had any railroad—that is, in the beginning of the year 1868,—a proposition to aid the construction of a Willamette valley railroad was laid before the citizens of Portland. It came in the shape of a proposition to guarantee interest. This journal, anxious that a railroad should be built and that Portland should show a willingness to aid the interior, commended the proposition—though the policy turned out to be a mistaken one, as the courts held it invalid. A year or two later, after the east side road had been partly built, there was a proposition for a subsidy from this city to aid the construction of the west side road. A bill to authorize the city to give such aid was passed through the legislature. It was approved and commended by this journal on the double ground that in the long run it would be to the city's advantage, while at the same time it would convince the people of the interior of the willingness of Portland to help them to railway facilities. The governor, however, vetoed the bill. Then a proposition was submitted to the city of Portland that if a donation of $100,000 were subscribed the west-side road would be built from the city to Yamhill county. The money was raised and the road was built. No one can pretend that the result has not been an immense benefit to Portland, beyond the amount of money so contributed. Now comes some one, Mr. Gaston, we suppose, with a printed circular in which he argues that THE OREGONIAN is extremely inconsistent in that it favored these early efforts to secure railroads for Portland, but now opposes the attempt of the Oregonian railway company to take the public levee and run a track down Front street through its whole length, with the additional right to monopolize with its side tracks the foot of every street terminating on the river.

Perhaps this journal is inconsistent. But it is not troubling itself about that. Doubtless it was wrong in urging the city to guarantee interest first for a Willamette valley road and afterwards for a west side road. It now seems to be settled that such attempts are prohibited by the constitution, though we remember that it was then regarded, even among lawyers, as an open question. But, as we also remember, Mr. Gaston himself was with us in these errors; and as he is not without sin in the matter (if there is any sin in it) he is hardly in a position to cast the first stone. If it be a reproach to THE OREGONIAN that it supported these propositions, Mr. Gaston, we fear, must bear a share of it with us, even heavier than our own.

But, as we remember, no railway company in those times laid claim to the levee or other property of the city of Portland, probably because our friend, Mr. Gaston, was more modest then than now. Or it may be that now he has keener employers. For ourselves we might well enough admit that we supported those propositions but now oppose this one, pleading a change of mind and letting consistency go. But that is not necessary. There are better reasons. The cases are not parallel; the circumstances are not the same. Twelve years ago it seemed to be absolutely necessary to lend direct aid. Now it is no longer necessary. Then, it was proposed to tax the people to guarantee interest. Now, it is attempted to take a special piece of property belonging to the city and held for a public use, and bestow it on a private corporation. Then, the volume of business was small, and as there was no capital likely to seek investment in railways here unless special aid were afforded, it seemed quite proper and even necessary to grant aid as far as practicable. Now, the volume of business is large and constantly growing. Capital is seeking investment in railways here, and the Oregonian company boasts, and justly, we have no doubt, of having an amount of money ample for all its purposes, which it is eager to invest. Its claim is, and we are glad to think it well-founded, that it can build this road and operate it at a snug and growing profit. Hence as the company has its millions and is building a road out of which it will make money, it should not want to take the property of the city of Portland for terminal purposes, particularly as it can easily buy such property almost anywhere on the river front, within the city. Again, it is quite absurd to represent that this road, in which its proprietors are investing many millions, will fail or be defeated if the company do not get our public levee. Is such an enterprise likely to suffer itself to be checkmated for want of a piece of property which $50,000 or $100,000 will buy? Were there no other way for this road to get into Portland, we should waive every objection and urge the city to grant what is claimed. For Portland wants this road, and every other likely to be built. But this concession is by no means necessary. Here is a corporation whose capital amounts to millions of dollars, making an investment for private gain which it is confident will be successful, in which we are glad to agree with it. Certainly, then, it is able to buy such property as it wants here, as other railways have done. And Mr. Gaston and others, in representing that those persons who oppose this claim are enemies of the road and want to defeat or obstruct it greatly miss their mark. This plea is by no means worthy of men of their intelligence and position.

THE TARIFF IN POLITICS.

The tariff question is giving Gen. Hancock no little trouble. The democratic platform, of which he has again and again expressed approval, pronounces for "a tariff for revenue only." Now this is the free trade doctrine, stated in its briefest terms. As might have been anticipated, it is alarming the protectionists of the manufacturing states. Even in Indiana it is being made a leading question, since that state of late years has largely developed manufacturing interests. The same is true in still larger degree in Ohio, while in Connecticut, New Jersey and New York (outside of New York city) this tariff question has developed into a leading issue of the campaign. This turn in affairs is giving the democratic managers no little concern. An attempt to meet the new danger is made by publication of an interview with General Hancock in a democratic paper of Paterson, N. J., a town whose manufacturing interests, like those of all the towns and cities of New Jersey, are very large. Gen. Hancock proceeds to say that there will be just as high a protective tariff under a democratic administration as under a republican one. Revenue must be had, and the collection of this revenue will necessarily protect manufacturing interests. This, then, is the outcome of the democratic promise of free trade. Such a statement, however, is not likely to satisfy the protectionists of the country. In nothing is the insincerity of the democratic party more patent than in this matter. The republican party frankly and strongly approves protection, though there are free traders in it. The democratic party is composed chiefly of free traders, and has adopted a free trade platform; yet its leaders promise the country that nothing shall be done to disturb the protective system. This juggle will not satisfy anybody. Free traders will spurn its insincerity, and protectionists will regard it as a hollow promise, covering a menace and an intended deception. It is part of the plan to get into power by promises of all kinds on all subjects. One democratic oracle appeals to you to support his party, because it is for free trade. Another appeals to you to support it, because it is for protection. Who is to be cheated? Somebody, evidently. The action which the protectionists of the east are taking against the democratic party indicates what view they have of it. Mr. Facing-both-ways is the standing model, the historical archetype, of a democratic candidate for the presidency.

THE CHARTER OUTRAGE.

On Friday night the bill to amend the charter of the city of Portland, or rather to provide a new charter, passed the house of representatives. There was no material opposition, though many members are said to have doubted the propriety of passing the bill. But as there was no active opposition from the Multnomah delegation the bill was allowed to pass without objection. We have heard that some of the Multnomah members do not approve it; but as they neglected the duty of making their objections felt, the members from other parts of the state did not feel inclined to lead the opposition.

It is just as well for our citizens to understand this matter. An attempt is made to change the charter in the interest of a set whom the city would never willingly intrust with the control of its affairs. To accomplish this the present city government, which is entirely efficient, is to be legislated out, and a new election is to be ordered, to take place on the second Monday of December next. The bill abolishes the board of police commissioners, which is the prime object of the scheme, and places the appointment and control of the police force, including the chief and captains, in the hands of the mayor and council. After passing this bill the next step on the part of those who have undertaken the job will be to carry the December election. If they get the mayor and common council, as they purpose to do—for without this their whole effort will be to them entirely fruitless—they will have the city in their power, and will be prepared to take care of themselves at the expense of the taxpayers and perpetuate their rule and certain wider schemes of politics, by controlling future elections.

If the people of Portland desire to save the city from the unscrupulous gang who are making this endeavor they have no time to lose. We believe that proper remonstrance at the capital will yet defeat this bill. Let the legislature be informed in terms that can not be misunderstood that the people of Portland do not want this change, have not called for it, and entreat the legislature not to make it. All reasons or excuses given by the authors of this bill, when resolved into their original terms, simply amount to this, that a lot of ward politicians of the bummer sort are trying to set aside the present government so they may have a chance to fasten themselves upon the city. The central idea is to make Besser chief of police. Around that purpose all other parts of the scheme revolve. Possibly there are those who reluctantly support the bill in pursuance of promises given for support last June. If so, as such promises are against public interest, they are better broken than kept. Possibly also there are some who allow themselves to be persuaded that this is a measure to help the republican party by giving it a surer hold upon the city of Portland. Never were they more mistaken. It is the entering wedge of disruption and defeat; and we here predict that if this bill passes the ticket called republican, nominated for the election in December, if nominated in that interest, will be beaten out of sight. Party obligations will not be in the least regarded in such a contest.

Since the citizens of Portland have not called for the changes proposed by this bill, but protest loudly against them, the proper thing for the legislature would be to stop it right where it is. The impudent lie with which the bill closes, namely, the declaration that "the general well being and peace of the city of Portland require the speedy passage of this act," well befits the gang who conceived it and who are pushing it through.

From Mr. Chas. H. Larrabee we have a note which declares that great injustice was done him by a paragraph as to his army record, which was published on Saturday. He encloses a pamphlet, which purports to give his army record. Nothing is further from our intention or desire than to do Mr. Larrabee, or any one else, injustice. But it is proper to say that we have been furnished with the names of three Wisconsin men, one of them a relation of his and two of them soldiers in the war, who are said to be entirely prepared to substantiate the statement we made; and we are authorized to furnish him with these names if he desires them. There is the same authority, which is quite at his service for this statement also, that the record he furnishes of his army service would pale before a light much less brilliant than the modern electric lamp. In justification of ourselves, we are ready at any moment to furnish Mr. Larrabee with the authority for what has appeared in these columns, should he apply for it, as probably he will not. In his tour of the state he has been speaking very severely and ungenerously of faithful men; and if he himself is a pretender, it is right that the public should know it. In early times our Oregon Indians used to go to some well known missionary, Indian agent or other official, and get certificates of character to bear about with them. These papers came to be called "teapots," or something resembling the sound of that word—a result possibly of a labial or lingual defect in the pronunciation of the word papers. If the "teapots" were not spurious, it often happened that the person bearing them did not answer to the character they gave him. Hence people of Oregon were taught early that there was likely to be a good deal of fraud in this "teapot" business, a lesson which they have regretfully noted has been confirmed by not a few modern instances. Hence, without condemning hastily, they think it prudent to stand on their guard.

The Boston Advertiser, commenting on Gen. Hancock's letter regarding southern claims, states with great clearness and force a point which may well be taken into consideration: "Nobody has thought it necessary to ask the republican candidate to give a pledge that he will not countenance any projects to open the treasury to be plundered by rebel claimants. He could be trusted without a pledge, just as the republican party can be trusted without pledge to support and enforce the constitutional amendments. Why are pledges required from one party and one candidate and not required from the other party and its candidate? It is because the record of the republican party and its candidate is an assurance that needs no strengthening, while the record of the democratic party is all against the course which the people desire and intend to have kept. In order to obtain a chance it has to promise not to overthrow what it has vainly attempted to prevent."

In Harper's Weekly of the 9th October Nast has a cartoon of English and his financial graveyard which has produced a tremendous sensation in Indianapolis, where the names of victims of foreclosures and executions, which appear on the tombstones, are well known. It is a companion piece to the recent cartoon which represented Hancock as a mourner amid the graves of the "silent democratic majority" at Gettysburg. The English cartoon is entitled, "Another Kind of Silent Democratic Majority—The 'Poor Man's Friend' will Miss Them on Election Day." A dispatch represents English as terribly enraged over it, and as threatening to prosecute after the election "every one who has attacked his private character." Mr. English, wrapped up in his own selfishness, evidently supposed he was invulnerable; and on learning the contrary, is getting excited about it.

If anything could induce the legislature to terminate its session at once, the assurance of a strong majority for Garfield next month would be far better. The way in which that body is dealing with questions before it is not calculated to increase the confidence of the people in the republican party as a safe depositary of political power. If anything could make the state doubtful it is the action that is being taken on such measures as the Portland charter, the Reid and Hogg schemes, wagon road jobs and increase of judicial salaries; besides numerous onslaughts on the statutes, and no end of schemes for private interest and therefore against the public interest. The legislature should either turn a short corner in its policy, or adjourn sine die. It is doing mischief every day, and no good whatever.

Dispatches which we have published have spoken with some severity of the order of Gen. McDowell in the matter of disbanding Lieut. Farrow's Indian scouts. This criticism seems to be the result of misapprehension of some of the facts. The law allows only a limited number of scouts to be employed, and Gen. McDowell has urgent occasion for the quota belonging to this division for use in Arizona and elsewhere. He could only muster in those he required in that department by mustering out those in this department. Of the comparative urgency of the service in the two places we have no knowledge; but this is the explanation of the action taken by the commanding general.

From the democratic papers of Sunday we learn that D. H. Stearns, who used to publish, or print, a paper called the Bee, still continued as a mercenary sheet under another name, and who for two or three years devoted all his time and all his energies, such as they were, to abuse of THE OREGONIAN for its "treachery," as he alleged, to the republican party, has blossomed out now as a democrat in full communion, and as such made an address in favor of Hancock and English at East Portland on Saturday night. The incident does not call for special remark, further than to say that these mercenary adventurers always find their level.

The strong vote by which the senate passed the resolution in regard to woman suffrage, 21 to 9, is, we believe, the most favorable action yet secured in our state on this question. We have not a copy of the resolution, but understand it to provide for submitting to the people an amendment to the constitution authorizing woman suffrage. It will probably pass the house also.

The Pacific Rural Spirit, a twelve page weekly, and much the best agricultural and stock journal in Oregon, is rapidly pushing its way to public favor. It is published at the low price of $1.50 per annum.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—12:30 A. M.—For the Pacific coast generally clear weather.

CITY.

PUBLIC SPEAKING AT SALEM.—Hon. George H. Williams is announced to speak at Salem to-morrow (Tuesday) evening, and arrangements are being made to give him a grand reception. The Garfield and Arthur clubs will turn out in full force and an immense torchlight procession is being arranged for the occasion. Committees have been appointed to complete the details, and indications promise the largest and most enthusiastic republican meeting that has ever taken place in Marion county. The republicans are thoroughly awake to the issues of the day and arrangements will be made to accommodate all who may desire to turn out on the evening in question. Republicans everywhere are cordially invited to participate in making this the monster demonstration of the campaign. The boys who this year cast their "maiden vote" will turn out in a body, about 100 strong, and add interest to the occasion.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE ORGANIZED.—Saturday afternoon the following teachers of the East Portland faculty met at the Central school for the purpose of organizing a teachers' institute: Prof. J. R. Ewing, Miss Dora Crites, Miss M. C. Daly, Miss Nina Parsons, Miss M. Grimball. The following persons were elected as officers of the institute: President, Prof. J. R. Ewing; secretary, Miss M. C. Grimball; executive committee, J. R. Ewing, Miss Belle C. Kennedy and Miss Nina Parsons. The secretary was instructed to inform the teachers of Holladay's addition and surrounding districts of the organization, and extend them an invitation to attend. The meeting adjourned until the second Saturday in November at 10 A. M.

PETITION AND REMONSTRANCE.—A numerously signed petition has been presented to the county court by A. Hackett and N. Finch, praying to have a license issued to run a ferry from some point on the west side of the Willamette, between Weidler's mill and Green wich dock, and Albina. The petition is objected to by William Carroll, on the ground that about a year ago he obtained a license from the county court to run a row boat to the points named, and also that the license gives him the right to establish a steam ferry there whenever the business will justify the expenditure. That time, he alleges, has not yet arrived. The question is being considered by the county commissioners.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.—Says the East Portland Vindicator: "The different members of the board of trustees of this city were served with a summons during the past week from J. Rankin, father of Rosa Rankin, who fell through the Fourth street bridge and lost her life, in which he sues them all and separately for the sum of $5000, for his daughter's death. His counsel consists of Hill, Durham & Thompson and Bingham, of Portland. No action was taken by the board at the last meeting, farther than to non-officially instruct the city attorney, Judge Woodward, to engage Judge Shattuck to assist in the defense."

AN UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE.—A special correspondent, writing from Vancouver under date of Oct. 9th, sends the following: "Last evening the quietude of our little burg was startled by the report that a well known young man had attempted to take his own life. On investigation it resulted as follows: A young man by the name of Abers, who had either grown tired of life, or was crazed by the influence of—we know not what—sought to take his own life, but the fatal pistol was not held close enough to the head, and only resulted in badly burning his many locks instead of ending his life."

CHURCH ROBBED.—During Friday night some person or persons entered the Congregational church situated in Holladay's addition to East Portland, and stole about sixty yards of stair carpeting. This, so far as is known, was all the thief or thieves carried away. The carpet was purchased by a series of entertainments given by the ladies of the church during last winter, and by donations of the Mite society. An entrance was effected to the building by removing the large pane of glass from the north window.

INSUFFICIENT CAPACITY.—The fire cistern at the intersection of Eighth and C streets, which has been completed by the contractor, has been examined by the authorities, and it was ascertained by measurement that it does not contain as large a quantity of water as the contract called for. The ordinance required that the cistern should have a capacity of 20,000 gallons, and the new one only holds 16,000. The cistern has been accepted, but an amount proportionate to the deficit will be deducted from the contract price.

LEG FRACTURED.—A laborer, while engaged on the Market street grade between Twelfth and Thirteenth, met with a very severe accident Saturday morning. While he was engaged in undermining a bank about ten feet high, the earth came tumbling down, striking his leg, fracturing the bone, and otherwise injuring his body. He was relieved from the unpleasant predicament and removed to St. Vincent's hospital, where the fractured limb was set.

FIREMEN'S BALL.—On the 28th inst. the members of Vigilance Hook and Ladder Company No. 1 propose to give a grand ball. The following gentlemen have been appointed on the committee of arrangements: Robt. Holman, Wm. Lundberg, I. Kauffman, Theodore Wygant, W. E. Robertson, H. J. Scherzer, Jacob Mayer, W. P. Olds, H. P. Hudson and Mr. G. Newberry.

DANGEROUSLY ILL.—Mr. James Kennedy who resides near Mount Tabor is lying dangerously ill, his disease baffling all medical skill. His daughter, Miss Belle Kennedy, who is one of the teachers in the Central school, East Portland, has given up her position for the present to Miss Lillie Wade, so as to attend upon him.

PERSONAL.—Lieut. C. E. S. Wood, of Gen. Howard's personal staff, left yesterday morning on the steamer State of California for San Francisco. He has in charge several United States prisoners who are on their way to Alcatraz to serve out our terms of confinement.

NORTH PORTLAND CLUB.—The North Portland Republican Club will hold a meeting this (Monday) evening at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be held at the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association instead of the usual club rooms.

BOARD OF TRADE.—There will be a regular meeting of the Portland board of trade, held in the Ankeny's Building, this (Monday) evening at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is requested, as business of importance is to be transacted.

MEETING AT OSWEGO.—A very enthusiastic meeting was held at Oswego Saturday evening by the Garfield & Arthur club of that place. The meeting was addressed by N. Y. Compton, Esq. and C. Beal.

REPUBLICAN SPEAKING.—The North Portland Republican Club will be addressed this (Monday) evening by Hon. H. Y. Thompson and Hon. J. Riley. Everybody is invited to attend.

AT OREGON CITY.—Hon. Geo. H. Williams will speak at Oregon City this (Monday) evening at 7:30 o'clock. Preparations for a great republican meeting have been made.

PORTLAND'S GREAT FAIR.

THIRD DAY.

The Attendance Greater than Friday—Some of the Exhibits on the Main Floor, Etc., Etc.

It was thought by the managers that the immense attendance Friday evening, induced to some extent by the visit of the president, would tend to a diminished audience the following evening. To the surprise of all the crowd was still greater than Friday. It seems that more than 3000 men, women and children had a desire to walk through the floral hall, watch the machinery, examine the paintings, look at the ladies' handiwork, enjoy the music, and see their friends—and they came.

Fair Notes.

The managers have secured a thoroughly competent and polite doorkeeper in the person of Johnny Williams, the well known usher.

Hodge, Davis & Co. have with their exhibit a splendid glass sign, the handiwork of W. T. Clarke. It is considered the most artistic ever turned out in Portland.

A most enjoyable feature of the fair is the music of the Twenty-first Infantry band. They will pardon the suggestion, however, that some of their selections are a trifle too loud for even so large a building as the pavilion.

Saturday evening Messrs. Edgar E. Coursen and Harry B. Krouse, entertained many admirers of their exceptional musical talent with several duets on the Weber piano at D. W. Prentice & Co.'s booth. Their playing was thoroughly enjoyed.

President Hayes, for the first time in his life, saw the process of making pottery ware at Smith's stand Friday evening and watched the work with much interest. The artisan at work, taking up a batch of clay, shaped a flower pot in the presence of the president. Mr. Smith will, after it is burned, send it to the White House as a reminder to the president of his visit.

THE PRESIDENTIAL PARTY.

FROM COLUMBIA RIVER TO PUGET SOUND.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

OLYMPIA, Oct 10.—At 9 o'clock yesterday the steamboat Welcome left Portland, having on board the president and Mrs. Hayes, R. P. Hayes, Secretary Ramsey, Gen. Sherman, Miss Sherman, Col. and Mrs. Barr, J. W. Herron and Mrs. Herron, Mrs. Mitchell, Dr. Huntington, Col. Jameson, Mrs. Audenreid and Gen. McCook, composing the presidential party, with T. F. Oakes and Capt. Geo. J. Ainsworth of Portland, and Gen. and Mrs. Howard and Gen. Sawtelle from Vancouver. The Welcome steamed rapidly down the river, and people at every farm house appeared on the bank eager to see the president. As the boat passed St. Helens the entire population—probably 200 persons—appeared on the dock and cheered vociferously. The steam whistle of the mill shrieked a welcome, while steamer answered. The buildings along the river front were handsomely decorated. At Columbia City, people also appeared on the dock and cheered as the boat passed. The run to Kalama, where a special train was in waiting, was accomplished in three hours. Gen. Sprague and Gov. Ferry greeted the party on the gang plank. After a delay of an hour for dinner and a visit to the splendid ship Valiant, lying at the dock, the party boarded the train for Tenino. At Winlock, 33 miles out, a halt was made, and President and Mrs. Hayes appeared on the platform and were cheered by the assemblage. Two hundred people had assembled at Chehalis, a few miles further on, where the train also stopped. Gen Sprague introduced the president, who was addressed by "Private" Miles on behalf of the citizens. He responded briefly, and was followed by secretary Ramsey and Gen. Sherman. The train arrived at Tenino shortly after 3 o'clock, where about 250 ladies and gentlemen from Olympia, and the officers of the revenue cutter Oliver Wolcott, were awaiting. A ride of an hour by the narrow gauge railroad brought the party to Tumwater, where all disembarked and viewed the falls.

Olympia was soon reached. Salutes were fired from the battery on shore and by the Wolcott as the train approached. The mayor and prominent citizens greeted the party, who entered carriages and preceded by a band of music went at once to Howard's hotel. The streets along the line of march were decorated with flags and festoons, and crowds cheered as the party passed. In response to loud calls from the crowd in front of the hotel, the president appeared and spoke briefly. He said the number of people who were present to welcome them was a surprise. Their locality was most interesting. All parts of the United States were informed in a general way of its general facts. It has an important future and is destined to attract attention from all people. Puget Sound, he had always heard of as a most magnificent body of water. He had just seen where it "petered out" at Tumwater, and would soon see more of it. He congratulated the people on their good water power, splendid timber, that important blessing a good working climate, and a harbor capable of floating navies, commercial and warlike of the world. He had heard a great deal of the Sound, and felt that he ought to know it. If one could know any place by reading of it, which according to General Sherman one could not, He ought specially to know Olympia, as some friend had sent him a birdseye view of the place, which he so admired that he had it framed and hung over his work desk at home—a place which now he was very glad to be away from. He knew Olympia by that picture, but expected to know it better by this visit. The people at least sympathized with the pioneers in their noble efforts in laying the foundation of a flourishing commonwealth. He was glad to see that religion, morality and knowledge, necessary to good government, encouraged as it was by churches and schools everywhere. He predicted that, as immigration comes and population grows, there will grow up in Western Washington territory a great and prosperous community. He concluded by a handsome compliment to the pioneers, saying that those of this extreme western region had, in the history of their early efforts, more of romance and of danger than the pioneers of any state east of the Rocky mountains.

The president then introduced Secretary Ramsey who spoke for a few minutes. He said that his physical appearance showed that he was one of those suffering pioneers. Stories about pioneers, as told by people not themselves pioneers, were apt to be a little away from facts. Pioneers heard different stories. Life, he said, was not easy and luxurious with them, but results were the same or decidedly better than in older communities. He said that pioneers toiled more than other people, loved their wives as much, prayed as often, and brought up their children as well. Illustrating how Minnesota, his state, has grown, and how Washington may grow, he said that in an early day he took the census of Minnesota, then a territory. We officials, he said, who wanted to make it appear that we represented somebody, hunted high and low and managed to make a population reach 4500. We called them white but I tell you now privately that more than one third were half-breeds [Applause and laughter.] He said that when they got their first railroad, a little affair 10 miles long they cackled over it like a hen over her first egg. Now they have 3000 miles. Referring to Western Washington, he said that they had the salmon, the finest fish in the world, splendid forests, coal and that magnificent mountain—Rainier. A great people must grow under the influence of such a grand scene. We in Minnesota, said he, have no such scene, and I'm jealous. What kind of fish do you think we have? Catfish. Instead you have the elegant and royal diet, the salmon. He said that in the early years of the republic the president could not leave the seat of government but a short distance, but that now, with improvements in means of travel and intelligence it was his duty to visit the people as he was now doing. [Great applause.] He spoke of the pioneers, and said that the most interesting people were frontiersmen and from pioneer's pluck a great state would grow. Railroads, he said, would soon be here and as European immigration seeks a like latitude from which it comes additions will be made by Germans and other thrifty people from the north European countries. The Northern Pacific will be completed within five years, and then the population will increase 25,000 to 30,000 annually. He concluded as follows: "You have here all that is sought for by immigration, and more to offer it than any territory in the union."

Gen. Sherman on taking the stand was greeted by immense applause. He said that Olympia was a good name, and hoped the people were worthy to be called Olympians. He was here three years ago, and was glad to come again. All the party were pleased with what they had seen, and had seen more than most people in the crowd. They had first come from the grain belt of eastern Washington, which, like the great prairies of the west, needed no clearing, but where the immigrant can put his plow in the same year and reap a harvest. That region, he said, will attract settlers first, but this west coast I think will have more permanent and perfect prosperity. He attached great importance to timber and warned people not to wantonly destroy it. He assured them that visitors knew all about them, including the foolish jealousy between towns. He said that a better time was coming with completion of the Northern Pacific R. R. He devoted most of his speech to showing the progress and condition of that road. The people, he said, must lend a helping hand toward building the Northern Pacific railroad from Snake river to the Sound and not let Portland and Astoria take all of its advantages. Foolish local jealousy must be abandoned and all work for a common good. The day of the ox and mule team immigration had passed and people now go by railroad. The president, he said, was delighted with the trip and when he returned to the east would tell stories of what he had seen, all in favor and all for the good of Washington Territory. General Sherman closed with a compliment to the scenery.

Mrs. Hayes appeared in answer to repeated calls, and bowed amid great applause.

At half past six a reception was held in the town hall, but handshaking was cut short as the hall was previously engaged for a political meeting. General Sherman dryly remarked that this was the first political meeting he ever heard of that did anybody any good.

The president took a walk about town this morning, and later with Mrs. Hayes and others of the party attended the Methodist church, Rev. McCormick, pastor. At 1 o'clock Gov. Ferry entertained the entire party to lunch at his residence. Drives to Foster's logging camp and all points of interest followed.

To morrow morning the party will embark on the steamboat George E. Starr, chartered for the occasion, and will make the tour of the Sound, returning to take the cars at Tacoma on Thursday. They will make short stops at Steilacoom and Tacoma on the way down the Sound, and reach Seattle by 1 o'clock and visit coal mines in the afternoon. Delegate Brents arrived last evening and assisted in the welcome of the president; his acquaintance with all the members of the party added to the pleasure of their stay here. A singular circumstance is the resemblance of an Olympia lady, Mrs. Judge Elder, to Mrs Hayes, and so striking is it that many mistook Mrs. Hayes for Mrs. Elder, on the first passage through the streets. The entertainment by Mrs Howard, the colored woman so well known, has been delightful, and the good old lady is almost transported over the remark by the president that her hotel is the best he has seen since he left Washington.

A PROTEST AGAINST THE CHARTER JOB.

The following protest against the passage of the bill to amend the charter of the city of Portland, which passed the house on Friday night, has been prepared and will be circulated to-day. It would be safe to say that not one citizen in twenty will decline to sign it:

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Oregon:—The undersigned memorialists taxpayers and citizens of the city of Portland respectfully represent: That the leading provisions of house bill No. 1, a bill for an act to amend the charter of said city, have not been approved by either the mayor or council of said city, and there is no demand on the part of the taxpayers or other inhabitants for the passage of such an act as that now pending.

The law as at present administered has been and now is, productive of peace and good order in the city, and its provisions and administration give general satisfaction.

The taxpayers are opposed to the bill.

The sentiment of citizens here condemns it, and the best interests of the city require that it do not pass.

We earnestly protest against the attempt to legislate out of office the incumbents who have been duly elected and have worthily filled their respective offices, and under whose administration, peace and good order have been maintained and the municipality has prospered.

The proposed repeal of certain other provisions of the old charter will open the door to fraud.

We earnestly protest against the radical changes proposed.

We respectfully represent that the reasons assigned in sec. 34, for the passage of the bill, are wholly untrue.

THE NEW PRESIDENT TO ARRIVE.

Rev. J. R. Herrick, D. D., president-elect of the Pacific University, late professor in Bangor Seminary, is expected to arrive in Portland on the 16th to enter upon his office at Forest Grove immediately.

President Herrick accepted the office June 23d and began at once, as requested by the board of trustees, to canvass for funds to endow the professorship of natural science under the auspices of the American College Society. He has made good progress in collections, and hopes to secure $25,000 on his return east after commencement in June, 1881.

It is the desire of the board of trustees to secure the endowment of another and perhaps two more needed professorships under the care of the American College Society, which first proposed and which has always endorsed and aided this institution. Its funds have been carefully guarded by Messrs. Ladd, Corbett and Failing, who have been its successive treasurers for about twenty years, and they now amount to about $70,000 cash $20,000 in real estate, and $5000 in a Library of 6000 volumes. The largest part of this sum was raised by the late president, Rev. S. H. Marsh, D.D.

The institution in all its departments begins the new year with a good degree of prosperity. The building fund is increasing, and when large enough will be used to erect a permanent college building. The trustees have always aimed to pay teachers well and promptly first, and not invest too soon in buildings.

G. H. ATKINSON, Secretary.

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE.]

SCIO, Oct 9, 1880.

Wheat still coming to town. The railroad warehouse is full of wheat. The mill granaries will be full of wheat soon.

J. B. Montgomery is in town attending to business of getting us the locomotive scio here by November 1st.

A disgraceful row occurred on our streets Thursday evening between Fred Clug, a German farmer, and one of the choppers on the railroad, Henry Goldback. Both were very much intoxicated.

Quite a number of our citizens are attending the county fair at Albany; others will be at Portland to attend the Mechanics' fair.

THE WHEAT PUZZLE—13, 15, 14.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Can any grain merchant explain to me how it is that California shipping wheat brings in San Francisco $1 50 per cental, while Oregon wheat (superior in quality by at least 10 cents per cental) brings in Portland only $1 35 per cental, although ships left here for San Francisco to load there? I confess to be no wheat sharp, but somehow I can not get it into my head. It strikes me that ships better remain here and take better wheat at less price than to go to San Francisco and incur a heavy extra expense.

Call and be convinced that you can get a better article for a less price than at any other store in the city. Sole Agency for the Calebrated Kerbs and Brels New York Cigars.

The Edison Electric Light

Has thus far proved a failure as a practical light for family use, and the owners of gas stocks breathe more freely and see renewed dividends near at hand, but the Oregon Kidney Tea has been a success from the first, paying large dividends of restored health to all those afflicted with backache or any disease of the kidneys or urinary organs, and carrying consternation to the pockets of rival concerns with worthless nostrums to sell. Ask for Oregon Kidney Tea, and take nothing else.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

No people in the world suffer so much with Dyspepsia as Americans. Although years of experience in medicine had failed to accomplish a certain and sure remedy for this disease and its effects, such as Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Waterbrash, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Liver Complaint, coming up of the food, low spirits, general debility, etc., since the introduction of Green's August Flower we believe there is no case of Dyspepsia that cannot be immediately relieved. Some dozen and last year without one case of failure reported. Go to your druggist and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents. Try it. Two doses will relieve you. Regular size 75 cents.

OREGON AND CALIFORNIA RAILROAD COMPANY.

A few days since the Oregon Central Railroad Company transferred its railroad and land grant to the Oregon and California Railroad Company, and on Saturday the Western Oregon railroad was transferred to the same company. The Oregon and California Railroad Company is now, if not the most prosperous, much the most important of the transportation companies of the state to the people of the state. It owns 300 miles of railroad in operation between Portland and Roseburg and Portland and Corvallis and also controls the Albany and Lebanon branch—an additional 12 miles. The charter and franchises of the consolidated company provide also for the construction of 30 miles from Forest Grove to Astoria, a distance of 90 miles; from Roseburg to the south line of the state, 220 miles, and from Corvallis to Junction, 25 miles; and it also controls the Salem and Silverton Railroad Company, a line projected for about 25 miles. It completed last winter about 30 miles of new line, and finished this fall the branch to Lebanon.

We understand from good authority that during the coming year careful examination will be made of the unfinished portions of the system in order to decide upon the feasibility of their construction and prepare the necessary financial measures. We learn from the legislative reports that a memorial to congress has been introduced in the house concerning the land grant from Roseburg to the south boundary of the state, but have not seen the memorial and do not know its character. But we consider it of great importance to the people of the state, and especially to the people of southern Oregon that any action of congress to forfeit the grant should be prevented, and it is well understood that no further grants of land in aid of railroads can be obtained. We should regret any action of our legislature that would cripple the efforts of the company or deprive portions of the state hitherto without railroad facilities of the benefit of these enterprises.

EARNEST TALK TO YOUNG VOTERS.

Gen. Garfield's Address to a Delegate of "Twenty-One-sters."

CLEVELAND, Oct. 9.—The "First Voters" of the Garfield and Arthur battalion, of Cleveland, went to Mentor to-day by special train of six cars, and called on Gen. Garfield at his home. The train stopped at the farm and the battalion headed by a band marched to the residence where Herman W. Gramms, president of the organization, made a brief eulogistic address to which Gen. Garfield responded as follows: "Mr. Chairman and Young Gentlemen: This is no ordinary event in the history of any man; indeed, in the history of any people, when as I am told there are 400 young men here who made the journey not for any personal purpose, but to express that great general earnest purpose that arise in the hearts of active, intelligent young men when they first grapple the questions of their country. I know nothing quite like this in our history. With all the pleasure it brings me I am bound to say it brings a little disenchantment to me in this: always to this time have been accustomed to consider myself a young man [Laughter and applause]. If, therefore, on your arrival any body had raised the question I should have asserted with a good deal of indignation, if any body had demanded it, that I myself was a young man; but they tell me that you are to cast your first vote at a presidential election. If that is so, young man as I am, I was a voter before any of you were born. [Applause]. Now, young men and voters, knowing the language of Rip Van Winkle when he awoke from that long sleep, 'Who in the world am I?' [Laughter and applause] I must have passed the very flush of youth at least, but, young gentlemen, I have not so far left the coast of youth to travel inland but that I can very well remember the state of young men from an experience in it of some years and there is nothing to me in this world so inspiring as the possibilities that lie locked up in the head and breast of a young man. [Applause.] The hopes that lie before him, the great inspirations around him, the great aspiration above him, all these things with the untried pathway of life opening its difficulties and dangers inspires him to courage and force and work. It is a spectacle that the very gods would look down on even in ancient Roman days with more than admiring interest. [Applause. Now let me say a single word or two in answer to this great kindness and compliment in your coming to my house, about some of the thoughts that I know get into the hearts of young men to inspire them and some delusions that are likely to get into their minds. Let me speak of one delusion that I think from the remarks of the young chairman, you are not likely to have. It is a delusion that effects all men more or less, particularly the young man, the delusion that the good things are way off yonder. That is one of the delusions that I hope you are not living. To illustrate that: Right over here, fifteen miles away where I spent my childhood there is a lovely little brook and a gorge where we used to go and find slatestones and whittle them out into pencils for ourselves that were better than all pencils brought from abroad, but if any boy ever brought into our school what is not in any English dictionary but in a school boy's dictionary, 'boughten' pencil he could get a whole handful of our home made pencils for it, and yet every one of ours was better than the best that he brought from abroad. There was a delusion among us that outside of us, away from us was glory—was greatness. Now, as to our country, let us not get any such delusion into our heads. I know that it was a good thing for us to know all about abroad, to know what it is to enlarge our minds by it, but I want you to feel in the depths of your hearts that there is no abroad in all this world that is half equal to the glory of being an American here and at home to-day. [Great applause] Right here in this yard is a splendid specimen of American sovereignty. The roof of a crown of this world of sovereignty enlarge [illegible] millions of [illegible] who vote and you have the grand, august sovereign of this last and best born of time, the American republic [Applause.] Now that that sovereign shall be unshackled forever, that that sovereign be unpurchasable when it stands at the ballot box to order the supreme will of the nation, that that sovereign shall be unintimidated by mortal man when it utters the final ominous word that commands the continent—this is the great purpose that all true Americans should keep in their minds. [Great applause.] When I see such a band of earnest young men as meet me here to-day, I feel certain that they would deploy themselves as a ballot box guard to defend the purity of the American ballot box [applause], to stand around it and guard the crown of our heir apparent of American liberty. Such guardians, such [illegible] will keep the [illegible] public pure and keep it free.

Young gentlemen, your visit to me gives me a compliment of the highest sort, and, what is disenchants me, as I said a little while ago, it still reaches the hand of the young out to me which I take with all cordiality and earnestness, and for your tendered support to me, which is not for my sake, but for sake of the cause of which I am the representative, I give you all the thanks of which my heart is capable (applause). The house is small, the farm is small, the township is small, the county is a small one, but all there is in it to give of generosity and hospitality and welcome that is in my hands to give, is yours while you stay (applause and cheers). I bid you welcome to all there is of us."

Chicago Grain Trade.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—The grain market was weak at closing to-day. It has been fluctuating nicely from a speculative point of view, but to-day and yesterday prices took such a sudden and marked upward turn that the excitement for a while was intense, and speculation was only trifling. A reaction at the extreme close from the highest point of the week, the strong tenor of European advices and smaller receipts than had been expected, were the prime causes of the [illegible]. Corn was comparatively easy, because of the advancing tendency of lake freights. Provisions have been gradually strengthening during the week and [illegible]. The [illegible] November options [illegible] as follows: Wheat, [illegible]; corn, 39¾@41c; oats, 29¾@31¾c; pork, $11 90@12 60; lard, $7 90@8 25. Closing cash prices: Wheat, 97½c, corn, 39⅝c; oats, 30¼c; rye, 83c; barley, 76c; pork, $18; lard, $8 32½@8 35. Closing November prices: Wheat, 98⅝c; corn, 40⅞c; oats, 30⅞c; pork, $12 55@12 60; lard, $8 17½@8 20.

Receipts for the week were wheat 883,000 bushels; corn, 3,026,000; oats 997,000. Shipments of wheat 588,000 bushels; corn, 2,[illegible]; oats, 627,000. Receipts same time last year were wheat 1,848,000 bushels; corn, 1,625,000; oats, 409,000. Shipments of wheat 809,000 bushels; corn, 2,088,000; oats 355,000. These figures show on comparison that while last year the receipts and shipments of wheat were much heavier than this year—about double—that the corn and oats movements were only about half as large last year as now.

Boston Wool Market.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—The wool market is quiet and steady at last week's prices with sales aggregating a fair average, and buyers are operating cautiously. Transactions in fleeces show considerable falling off from last week but all grades are steady and firm, and holders are not inclined to ease off in the least. Combing and delaine fleeces continue in demand and in unwashed and unmerchantable fleeces a fair business is doing. Transactions in California wool are moderate. Pulled wools are in steady demand at current rates. No change in foreign wool. Sales include Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia XXX and XX at 44@47c; Michigan X and No. 1, at 39½@45c; Wisconsin X and No. 1 fine, at 40@43c; combing and delaine, 44@52c; Kentucky combing, 50c; Georgia, 36c; Missouri, 33½c; Texas, 19@30c; territory, 18@37c; unwashed and unmerchantable, 18@40c; spring California, 23½@33c; fall California, 19c; super and X pulled, 40@50c; scoured, 46@82c; Magdalena and Montevideo, 30½@37c; Australian, 42@48c. Total sales for the week, 1,997,900 pounds, of which 1,331,300 were domestic.

English Grain Markets Advancing.

LONDON, Oct 9.—A leading grain circular says: Grain markets continue to advance, and there is a healthy demand for wheat. Supplies are moderate, and many of the offerings are of an inferior quality. Weekly imports are also much reduced. Prospective receipts to the end of the year are on a rather limited scale, while continental buyers are competing in American markets at rates which diminish the chance of profitable operations in the only direction where the necessary supplies are obtainable. To-day's market was fully attended and firm. There was a good consumptive demand for wheat at an advance of a penny to two pennies. Flour was in better demand.

Gold and Stock Company's Reports.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.

Receipts—65,000 ctls wheat, 1000 qr sks flour, 3500 ctls oats, 3000 sks potatoes, 11,000 doz eggs.

Charters—By bk Cammore, prior arrival, 61s 3d, wheat, Cork, U. K.; Br ship Morna, 70s prior arrival, Cork, U. K.; ship Belvidere, coal, Nanaimo; ship Syren, oil, to New Bedford, Mass.

Wheat—Market is firm at the advance. There is a good demand for all purposes. Shippers' wants are urgent; lay days wane; prices gradually strengthen here, owing to Liverpool advices. Sales to-day embrace 750 tons wheat; good California shipping, $1 40; 70 tons choice California milling, $1 47½@1 50.

Bags—Market quiet but firm; quote, 8¼@9c.

EASTERN FREIGHTS VIA CAPE HORN.

[SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The freight market via Cape Horn remains quiet in some respects, yet there is considerable activity at the wharf of the only line that has a vessel on berth, and this is due to a desire on the part of some shippers to get their goods off without delay, and before there is further advance in rates, which seems inevitable unless one of the other lines succeeds in getting a vessel. Rates are very firm at full $9 per ton for dead weight and half a cent per pound for small lots. Tonnage is still very scarce, and there are no ships here. The ship Emily Whitney follows T. J. Southard at Boston in Vanvleck's line. The H. S. Gregory has finished her loading at this port, and will sail early next week.

Isthmus freights continue quiet, notwithstanding higher rates via Cape Horn, which ought to help this route. The steamer Monday will have a light cargo of railroad material. Freights hold up well for the season, and shipments continue large.

Freights at Philadelphia are more active, and the George Stetson will be full in the course of two weeks.

At Boston there is more activity, and the bark T. J. Southard will be loaded by the 20th inst. Railroad freights at Boston are also more lively. Shipments, including 300 cases canned goods, 510 pkgs fish, 100 cases wine, 230 coils rope, 1000 cases mackerel.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

Office—No. 63 First street, between Oak and Pine. Office Hours—From 10 to 12 A. M., 2 to 5 and 7 to 8 P. M.
